

Examples.pythonSync

This example follows the same setup as `examples.python`, but integrates the Python service code into a synchronous service passing its data on to a synchronous sink. The remaining properties of the example are the same except for that the communication happens with MQTT.