Examples.pythonSync

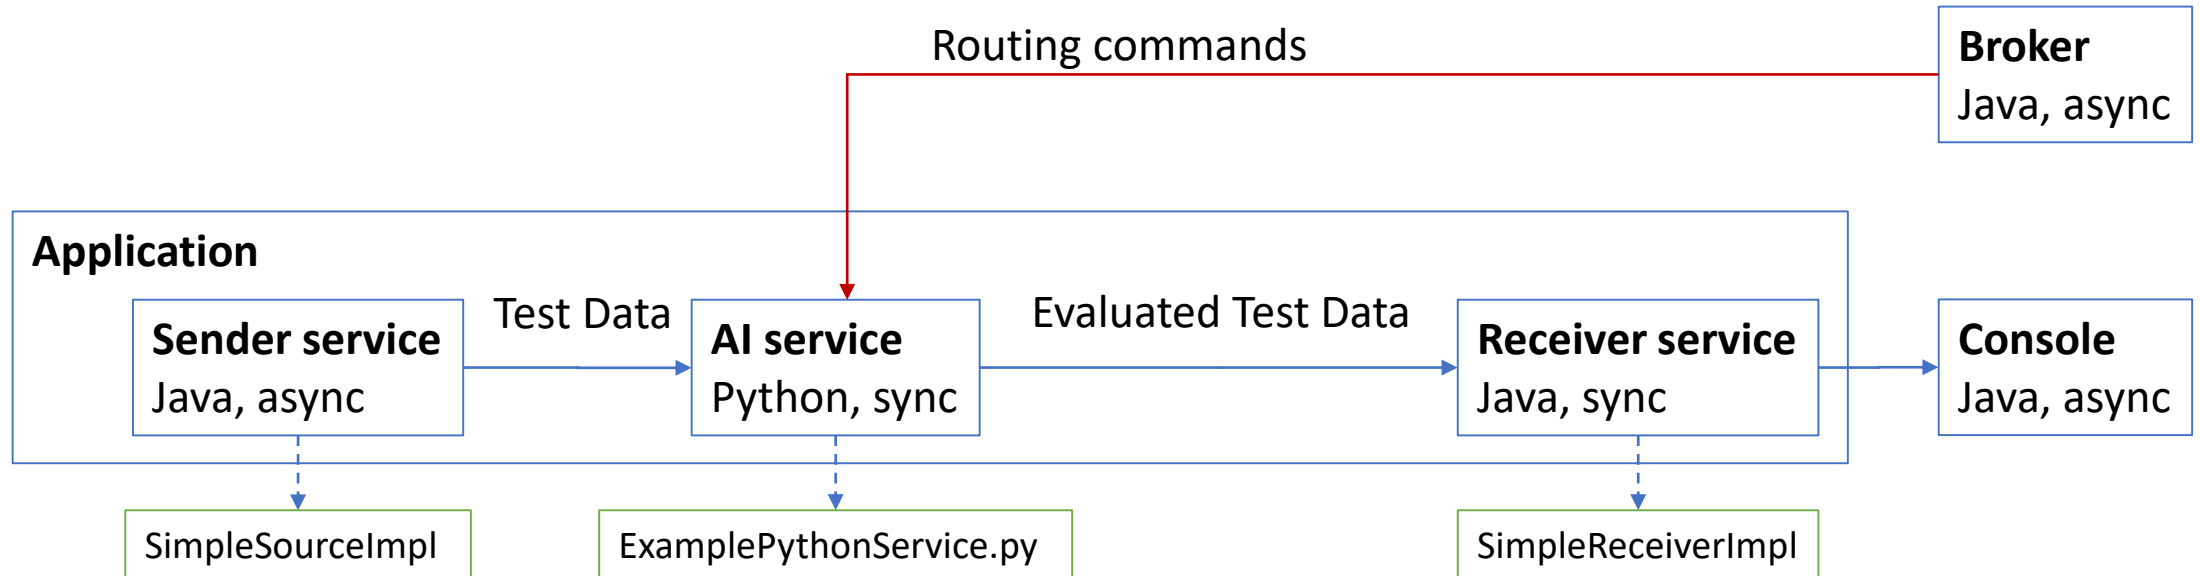

This example follows the same setup as examples.python, but integrates the Python service code into a synchronous service passing its data on to a synchronous sink. The remaining properties of the example are the same except for that the communication happens with MQTT.